

BREAKING

UPDATED: Obama administration announces moratorium on coal leases

http://trib.com/lifestyles/recreation/ranch-enters-into-conservation-easement/article_79968610-9550-5fc9-a3ce-085171924a6f.html

Ranch enters into conservation easement

By Star-Tribune staff writers Jan 9, 2016

A 1,000-acre ranch along North Piney Creek owned by actress Glenn Close will remain forever undeveloped under an agricultural conservation easement.

The ranch connects two other large, family-run ranching operations in moose, mule deer, pronghorn, antelope and elk habitat. The ranch is also inside sage grouse care area, and within two miles of the sage grouse winter concentration area.

The Wyoming Stock Growers Land Trust has now partnered with nearly a dozen families and conserved over 47,000 acres of ag-land in Sublette County.

Christine Peterson